The Final Solution Netanyahu is succeeding where the Nazis failed

Destruction of Gaza by Netanyahu

After the total annihilation of Palestine, the country will be taken over by Israel. This is the objective and mission of Jewish leader Netanyahu. He is embarked on the application of the Final Solution.

No war takes place in a vacuum, said United Nations Secretary-General Antonio Guterres, following the Islamic Resistance Movement (Hamas) attack on Israel on 7 October 2023, taking a few hostages. According to Mr Guterres, the Hamas attack came after more than 75 years of atrocities committed by the Jewish people against the Palestinians in their own country.

The Hamas attack was a boon to Israel PM Netanyahu. By concentrating on this Palestine war, Netanyahu was able to divert attention from his domestic problem. He was facing charges of corruption at home. Keeping the conflict going for as long as he can, does spare him of the offence he is accused of.

On the other hand, in this day and age of extension of lebensraum, like Trump in America eyeing other countries like Canada, Panama Canal, Greenland etc, like Putin wanting to annex Ukraine and other regional territories, Netanyahu wants to take the whole of the Palestine. There is very little the Palestinians can do. Israel has the backing of the Great Manitou, or the Great Satan as the Middle East countries used to call it. The Europeans, all in all, are for Israel. This provides Israel with the necessary encouragement to carry on with its policy of the Final Solution. The Nazis's Final Solution as regards the total elimination of the Jews in the 1930s/1940s was thwarted because the Americans and the Europeans were on the side of Israel. They waged war against the Nazi Germany and destroyed the Nazi hegemony. Today, it's a totally different story. Palestinians find no help from the Americans and the Europeans. The Palestinians are doomed, and Palestine will most likely become Israelite territory and a playground for its allies.

The following extract from Wikipedia gives an idea of what the Final Solution implies: The Final Solution (die Endlösung) or the Final Solution to the Jewish Question (Endlösung der Judenfrage) refers to a plan orchestrated by the Nazi regime of Germany during World War II for the genocide of individuals they defined as Jews. The "Final Solution to the Jewish question" was the official code name for the murder of all Jews within reach, which was not restricted to the European continent. This policy of deliberate and systematic genocide starting across Germany-occupied Europe was formulated in procedural and geopolitical terms by Nazi leadership in January 1942 at the Wannsee Conference held near Berlin, and culminated in the Holocaust, which saw the murder of 90% of Polish Jews, and two-thirds of the Jewish population of Europe.

With the massive destruction of the infrastructure and private properties, and the murder of thousands of Palestinians, including women, children and babies, It seems we are witnessing a repeat of the Holocaust in Palestine.

In the Animal Kingdom

Torture of creatures by like-creatures

This picture shows how the prison guards have been dehumanised. They wear mask to use beastly violence.

Prisoners in detention in a Venezuelan jail. The officials say that these detainees are gang members though among them there are illegal immigrants arrested in the United States and sent to Venezuelan jail.

The Venezuelan jail is being used by the US as an extension of the American prison. The Venezuelan authorities provide prison facilities to America. Illegal immigrants in the US are sent by force to the Venezuela without any recourse to a court of law. Many immigrants have been arrested in the US under Donald Trump and flown to Venezuela without any legal confederation.

At the moment the case of Abrego Garcia is causing a lot of friction the US. He was arrested, and without any court order he was flown to Venezuela a week ago. His relatives have applied to court in the US for his return. The courts, State and Federal, have ordered Trump to return Mr Garcia to the States for investigation. Mr Trump is yet to comply with the order. Will he? What a character!

No other creature in the Animal Kingdom behaves like that to its own kind!

Use Caution When Using Contact Lenses,

by Devinia Sookia (USA)

Millions of people wear contact lenses all over the world as it is very practical. The introduction of disposable daily lenses has encouraged more and more people to opt for contact lenses rather than glasses.

However not many wearers of contact lenses have seriously thought of the risks involved in using contact lenses. Recent warnings from scientists in the United Kingdom have drawn our attention to something that a lot of contact lenses wearers do without realising that this could result in blindness.

Washing contact lenses in tap water

Contact lenses should never be washed with tap water as there is the risk of catching Acanthamoeba. Acanthamoeba is a naturally occurring single-celled organism that is found in untreated soil and liquids including tap water. If it gets into the lens and comes in contact with the eye, it can penetrate the cornea and cause Acanthamoeba keratitis. As a result great damage can occur to the eyes. Symptoms include redness and eye pain, tearing, light sensitivity, blurred vision, discharge and feeling as though there is a foreign body in the eye. As many of the symptoms resemble those associated with Pinkeye, Acanthamoeba keratitis can be difficult for an eye doctor to diagnose. Acanthamoeba keratitis diagnosis is usually reached when the symptoms persist despite antibiotics. The presence of a ring-like ulceration in the eye can also be used as an indicator. While Acanthamoeba poses a risk to everyone, contact lens wearers are at particular risk. Statistics from the UK show that around 75 people have to deal with serious damage caused by Acanthamoeba per year.

Dr Fiona Henriquez from the University of the West of Scotland who has been conducting tests on new lens solutions to fight Acanthamoeba contamination said:

"It is a potential problem for every single contact lens wearer. The incidence is quite low but that may be a problem with diagnosis. There are no effective drug treatments. The drugs used are often ineffective. It requires hospitalisation and applications of a toxic substance to the eye. We're trying to improve the elimination of this parasite and prevent blindness. If treatment isn't effective, there is the possibility of blindness and the need for a corneal transplant. An estimated 3.7 contact lens wearers in the UK and more than 125 million worldwide are at risk from acanthamoeba".

Though this news is very disturbing, it is encouraging to know that some things can be done as a means of prevention. There are a few simple things you can do to reduce the risk of infection.

Taking extra care by following the following steps.

Follow instructions on how to care for your lenses that were given you by your eye doctor.

Use only products that your eye doctor recommends.

Never use tap water to clean contact lenses.

Never swim, shower or use a hot tub while wearing them. If you must wear your contact lenses while swimming, make sure to wear airtight goggles and afterwards dispose of your lenses.

Single use daily contact lenses are considered safer than reusable ones.

If your lenses are not disposables, upon removing always clean them in multipurpose solution and then store them overnight in fresh disinfecting solution.

Make sure to replace your lenses as often as is recommended by your eye doctor.

Lastly always wash and thoroughly dry your hands before handling your lenses.
